

Andy McClure

Whether a candlelit dining room or a smoky bar, Andy's rich baritone and varied repertoire can elevate any venue. Years of stage experience make him a natural in any setting, engaging the audience for an evening of classics, modern hits and a few surprises. From Gordon Lightfoot to the Foo Fighters, there's something for everyone.

Equipment

Andy can work with your existing sound system, provide his own, or perform completely unplugged. From an intimate wine bar to a massive festival, Andy will scale the performance to the venue.

Backing

In addition to solo performances, Andy is part of a wide network of musicians. He can easily expand the show from a solo act to a full band or anything in between. Andy can also arrange additional acts for longer events or greater variety.

Promotions

Andy will work with you to promote the event and help you get the results you desire. He will provide printed materials and internet support in advance of all performances (unless, of course, you prefer to keep it quiet.) Andy is always available during the planning stages to discuss options and opportunities to make your event a success.
